Here in New Jersey we are most often lucky when it comes to winter weather. In places like Albany and Syracuse New York, you can be inundated with lake effect snow which is measured in feet and not inches. If you are in the Carolinas anything more than a dusting becomes an emergency situation paralyzing all travel for days at a time. But winter in Jersey, although seldom snow-free, is part of the yearly progression that helps to build our appreciation of spring, summer and autumn. This year was an exception. For a large portion of January and February our landscape looked more appropriate for Doctor Zhivago than for New Jersey. It stands to reason that once the ice shelf receded enough to reveal bare black-top (and fresh pot holes) it was time to get out.

March 23, 2014 did dawn grey and cold. Not January frigid, mind you, but cold. Collector cars and car collectors need exercise. Given a chance for a reasonably priced all-you-can-eat breakfast, a chance to catch up for some old friendships and a chance to make some new friendships the only reasonable thing to do is to head to Home Town Buffet and forget about ice and snow for a bit. Time to talk about... well, rusty brake drums, sticky carburetors and maybe the price of gasoline.

The format is the same every year. If it is considered breakfast food, it is probably located on one of the steam tables or bain maries. Or maybe it is at the carving station. Coffee is not measured in cups, but in urns. And conversation just seems to be as endless and satisfying as the scrambled eggs. Once again we took over a sizeable portion of Home Town Buffet's large dining room and had a breakfast that couldn't be beat. Being fortified by food and hot coffee, it was time to "view some iron". Pampered Cadillacs and LaSalles from the '30s to the present sat patiently awaiting their operators and passengers. After the winter we all experienced this was indeed a sight for sore eyes. It can be noted that a chill wind was eventually successful in clearing the parking lot. But not before sincere goodbyes were traded. But we all know that winter's last gap, already passé, will soon be forgotten. Bring on the car shows and cruises!

Spotlight On The 1978 Eldorado Custom Biarritz Classic

By Ray Koziol

Over the years I've seen one or two of these at car shows and assumed they were customized by a local dealer. That was until I came across some material on the 1978 Eldorado Custom Biarritz Classic and learned they were indeed a Cadillac model option for 1978. They have a rather interesting history which I think you may find interesting. So here it goes:

Model year 1978 would mark the last offering of the full size Eldorado and initially it was decided to let the car fade into the night without any fanfare. This decision was partly based on the commotion caused 2 years earlier when the last Eldorado convertibles were produced. Those cars were quickly scooped up by speculators and collectors, the dealers added to the furor by charging exorbitant fees above sticker. Cadillac did not want to see a repeat of that situation. But then late in the model year there was a change in their stance. It was decided to move forward with a special edition, a sort of "swan song" for the last full sized Eldorado. A number of factors played into this decision. First and foremost, this was indeed to be the final full sized Eldorado. Also playing into this decision was the fast selling, and very popular 1978 Lincoln Continental Mark V Diamond Jubilee special edition. It was also known at the time that the full sized Mark V production would end the following model year. Thereby giving full size buyers one more option in 1979, an option that Cadillac would not have. So on April 11, 1978 Cadillac announced the availability of the Custom Biarritz Classic.

As this was late in the model year Cadillac had to quickly prepare a design and a plan for manufacture. As for design, they started with a Custom Biarritz finished in Arizona Beige (Paint Code 62) with a Light Beige Cabriolet Elk Grain vinyl roof (code T). For the interior they came up with a special combination of Light Beige and Dark Saddle Sierra Grain leather (Trim Code 644). The interior of the car was very striking with a two tone, pillow style seat trim, the pillow portion finished in Dark Saddle with Light Beige piping. Dark beige trim was used for the dash, steering column and leather covered steering wheel. Eye catching Dark Beige and contrasting Light Beige trim was used throughout the interior.

This interior motif was exclusive to the Custom Biarritz Classic special edition.

ASC Certification Label

As for manufacturing, Cadillac sought the help of American Sunroof Corporation (ASC). When initially completed by Cadillac the cars made the seven mile trip over to ASC for additional modifications and final completion. ASC applied the Demitasse Brown Metallic paint (Paint Code 64) to the center hood, upper door sections and the forward portion of the roof. They then applied the exterior moldings and added Dark Brown Accent Striping. Process time at ASC was anywhere from 4 to 6 hours over a 5 day period, depending upon whether a sunroof or AstroRoof was to be installed.

A total of 46,816 Eldorado's were produced with only 2,000 of those being Custom Biarritz Classics, although some claim the total was 2002. In either case these special editions are rare and unique. Adding to the exclusivity would be to find one with the optional AstroRoof as only 475 were produced. Even rarer would be those cars with the optional Sunroof as there were only 25 cars so equipped.

In 1978 dollars the exclusivity of an Eldorado Custom Biarritz Classic came at a price, namely an additional $2466 over the base of $11,921. Want an AstroRoof? Then that $2466 runs up to $3547. Want a Sunroof? Then that $2466 turns into $3347. A rooftop view of the sun didn't come cheap! In addition to the roof options all other Eldorado options were available on the Custom Biarritz Classic and most that arrived at ASC were heavily optioned.

Many characterize the Eldorado Custom Biarritz Classic as one of those "love it or hate it" cars because of its vivid color combination. Whatever your opinion, hopefully this little narrative will give you a better understanding of the history and uniqueness of this special edition Cadillac.

BREAKING NEWS

Cadillac Returns To The Limousine Market

Ray Koziol

DETROIT, MICHIGAN APRIL 1ST, 2014 BY RAY KOZIOL >> Today, the Cadillac Motor Car Division of General Motors made a surprise announcement that has shocked the auto industry. After a 38 year absence Cadillac will once again produce a factory built limousine. The last in house limousine produced was for the 1976 model year. Cadillac spokeswoman, Ima B. Kidden, VP of Under Developed Products, advised that Cadillac has decided to re-enter this marketplace with their own, unique, factory built limousine. She went on to say: “After careful review and extensive market study we have determined that a ‘retro’ type of limousine is what the market is calling for and have combined the class & elegance of yesteryear with the reliability and performance of today”. The car, which will be introduced at the New York Automobile Show this April combines the front end and drive train of the new Cadillac XTS and the rear of the Cadillac Brougham Town Car which first appeared as a 1956 Autorama show car. Classic details abound, from the heavily chromed “Dagmar” type front bumpers to the custom chrome wheels which duplicate those of the original ‘56 show car. Designed as a chauffeur driven vehicle, a retractable vinyl roof for the driver’s compartment is optional should the owner wish to provide his chauffeur with a modicum of protection from the elements. Cadillac Chief Interior Designer, Polly Ester advises that the front driver’s compartment is finished in a rich, long lasting, heavy duty, industrial grade vinyl imported from Yugo of Serbia and is available in black, gray or tan. A color matched, waterproof indoor/outdoor carpet provides classic yet durable protection for the front driver’s compartment. In addition to the chauffeur’s retractable roof Bill Loney, VP of Accessories described other options, which include a choice of sound systems, including AM, AM/FM and AM/FM 8-Track radios and for extreme “retro” sound a “reverb” rear speaker system is also available. Hydraulic window lifts are standard as is tinted glass. A vintage 4 speed Hydra-Matic Drive transmission is also standard equipment. Cadillac Financial Officer Owen Cash believes the in-house production of this limousine will increase profit margins, his Chief Assistant, Bill Folde has produced financial models which return significant profits. Cadillac Marketing Director Earl E. Byrd also believes this will be another Cadillac success story. He indicates that although the car has not yet been shown to the public the first production order has been placed. A gentleman by the name of Rich Mann from New York City has ordered the first production limousine off the line. Cadillac Chief Production Supervisor, Raynor Schein has advised that first deliveries will take place sometime in late June of this year.

The competition is watching this rollout very carefully. Iona Lincoln from Ford Motor Company has stated that they (Ford) may have to reconsider the limousine market as well ..... and she wishes one & all a Happy April 1st!!!
